

LIVABLE WAGES

Community Vision – A healthy community has a diverse and sustainable economy that pays livable wages and offers meaningful work.

The cost of living continues to rise in communities in Southwest Colorado. In our region Cortez (Montezuma County) is the least expensive place for a family to live, while Rico (Dolores County) is the most expensive place to live. Nationally, inflation was about 13% from 2003 to 2007, and the minimum wage increased 33% (from $5.15 to $6.85 per hour). We see from the chart at right that the cost of living in our region increased from 25% to 49% during that time period.

What level of income is necessary to support a given size and type of household? A livable wage addresses the essential financial needs for basic living tools such as shelter, healthcare, childcare, and nutrition. When one earns less than a livable wage, he or she is forced to make undesirable choices such as working two or more jobs, working longer hours, making longer commutes, sharing a residence, or giving up basic items such as a telephone or insurance.

We prepared a basic expenditures budget, using costs drawn from the Bureau of Labor Statistics Consumer Expenditures - for the nation as a whole - for 2005 (the latest available) and adjusted those costs for inflation, using the Denver/Boulder Consumer Price Index for 2007.

We then added expenditures for rent and childcare that are specific to our towns and counties. We did not complete this process for the Indian reservation areas of the region as many of their costs are subsidized. A mileage allowance was added for the communities of Silverton, Rico, and Dove Creek to recognize the extra distance that people in those towns must travel for many basic goods and services. The livable wage per hour for each community is summarized in the following tables, as well as how many jobs an individual would need (at minimum wage) to sustain just the basic needs of a household.

Notes: the minimum wage for Colorado is currently at $6.85 per hour, effective July 24, 2007.

* In some communities local rent estimates are not available so estimates of fair market rent provided by HUD are used.
